

Clothing

Iroquois men wore breech cloths with long leggings. Women wore wraparound skirts with shorter leggings. The people also wore moccasins on their feet and heavy robes in the winter.

Location/ Place/ Region

The Iroquois original home land was in the North East culture region, upstate New York between the Adirondack Mountains and Niagara Falls. They now live in New York, Wisconsin, Oklahoma, Canada, and southern Quebec.

Welcome to The Iroquois Tribe

By: Avielle Larson and Allison Tibor

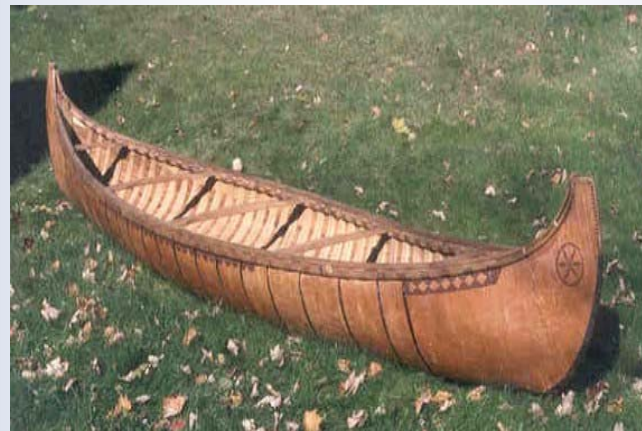

Human Environment Interaction

They traded corn, tobacco, and wood crafts in exchange for fur and shells. Iroquois men did most of the hunting, and shooting of deer, elk, and fished in the rivers.

Fun Facts

Iroquois means “People of the Longhouse.” There were six different languages spoken by them. Most of their people speak English today, but some, especially the elders, speak the Native languages of their own tribe.

Movement

The Indians used elm-bark or dug out canoes, but usually preferred to travel by land. In the winter, people used laced shoes and sleds to travel through the snow.

Rourke's Native American History & Culture Encyclopedia by Scott Lyons 2009

Native Languages of the Americas by Laura Reddish and Orrin Lewis 2013